THE WOOL QUESTION.

A local contemporary got hold of a report on wool from the Treasury Department two or three days ago and danced with joy over it. From it, it discovered that the decline in wool had been general, the world over, during the last year, hence it is a clear case to it that the assertion that the fear of free wool had caused a special decline in the United States was simply a Republican falsehood. Of course it forgot what the Tribune so often pointed out in the campaign of 1892, when it was admitting that the wool in the United States had actually fallen a little under the McKinley tariff, still that wool everywhere else in the world had that year fallen 21 per cent, and right then the wool in Montana was worth 8 cents a pound more than it was 150 miles over the line in the Dominion. Up to the election of Mr. Cleveland, every decline in wool was charged to the McKinley tariff by our broad-minded contemporary; every decline since has been due to the general decline in wool all the world over. But our contemporary fails to note that to-day in the United States wool stands exactly as though there was no tariff on it, and the outlook is not encouraging. Again, it shows that the increase in sheep has actually been very much greater in Australia, Argentine and South Africa under free trade than in the United States. Just so. In South Africa the product was simply clear profit; there was no special reason why it should not increase. In Australia and Argentine it was a question whether to raise sheep or cattle, and as cattle have ceased to be profitable, they have turned to sheep. At the close of the article the farmers of Utah are indirectly notified that if they will only hold on to their wool until the tariff is taken off they will receive better prices, because then Australian wool will be mixed with Utah wool and there will be a demand which is not now.—Salt Lake Tribune.

SENATOR JOHN P. JONES.

Senator Jones of Nevada resents the assertion of the San Francisco Chronicle that he is a silver Republican by the following clear cut, ringing declaration against the two old goldbug parties: "Any man who advocates the success of either of these old parties thereby ratifies, confirms and indorses the demonetization of silver, and their protestations to the contrary are simply shams, pretenses and frauds, emanating from such only as to place party above country and the federal pie counter above general prosperity."

Pass these refreshing words along the Populist battle line and fire them into the ranks of the deluded hosts who pretend to be friendly to silver but who march under the Wall street flag of the two old party combinations.—Rocky Mountain News.

The Frightful Calamity.

The burying of four young men in the snow slide Monday near the State Line Mills is very sad. The chances are that some one of the four dead men suffered the same experience that young Ede did before he was rescued. Think of it! He laid under about two feet of snow for twenty-six hours, pinioned as though in a vise, with a spike driven into the back part of his neck, and was taken out alive. It is beyond comprehension how a man could live under the circumstances that length of time.

Poor Wheeler, who was found this afternoon at 1 o'clock, was dead, but who knows how he suffered before death came to relieve his sufferings? Full of life and enjoying the best of health, and the next moment swept into eternity.—Gazette.

Judge Goodwin, of the Salt Lake Tribune, has of late been a great boon to the poor of that city. He has advocated and started relief funds, given lectures, and in fact done wonderful things for the poor. Other newspapers have done the same, but Judge Goodwin did not stop at that, he divides his salary every week with them as a guarantee of his sympathy in their distress.

A Terrible Example.

Bakersfield, Cal., Feb. 23.—While Mrs. Blacker was preparing a meal for a tramp he attempted to outrage her. He did not succeed, but got away. The neighborhood was roused and all started after the fiend and caught him at Kimberlana. The crowd wanted to string him up then and there, but the officers prevented it. Yesterday afternoon, however, they took him from the officers, stripped him, tied him to a telegraph pole and gave him a severe whipping and fixed him so that he never will attempt such an outrage again. He was then let go.

Jacob Meyerhofer, the engineer in a packing house at Sacramento, was caught in a pulley while oiling the shaft and whirled until his clothing gave way. He was terribly bruised and died an hour afterward.

World's Fair Under Calcium Light.

As announced in another column the exhibition and lecture on World's Fair and Midway Plaisance was postponed until Monday evening. The second lecture will be given on Tuesday, Feb. 27th. Matinee on Tuesday afternoon, Feb. 27th, at 4 o'clock. Admission for adults 25 cents, children 15 cents.

The views for both lectures are entirely different.

The Weiland Saloon.

W. Whitney has assumed control of the Weiland saloon, which he proposes to run strictly up to the times. He will dispense the best liquors and cigars and fine old Government whiskey, which slides down your throat like oil, tickling your palate meanwhile. Call and see "Handsome Whit." fill
